AAU got Second Place in Swimming Championship at NYU Abu Dhabi

Al Ain University of Science and Technology got the second place in the swimming championship organized by the New York Abu Dhabi University with the participation of a number of universities in the UAE, where the student Mohammad Al Shamsi from the College of Law at AAU won in the 100 meters in (Butterfly Stroke).

Al Shamsi expressed his happiness in achieving second place and represent Al Ain University in the championship, encouraging the students to exercise in general, especially swimming, which revitalizes the body and renew vitality.

Trainer Odai Owaidat praised the level of all the participants, congratulated Al Shamsi on winning, and called all students, whether they are trainees or professional to participate in sports competitions that are reflected positively on their health and physical activity.

By participating in sports events in the UAE, Al Ain University aims to improve the health and fitness of students and contribute to promote healthy lifestyles in the community.
